

Cambridge School Weekly Newsletter

Friday 13th October 2023

Dear Parent/Carer,

We held a Year 7 Parents and Carers Welcome Morning yesterday, Thursday 12th October, where parents came into school to meet with their child's teacher and key professionals like the SENCO and therapists. It was a very successful morning and parents welcomed the opportunity to meet each other informally over a coffee and share experiences. There was also a chance for parents to sample lessons in the classroom environment and join in as participants. Thank you to the staff and students in Nightingale, Wiltshire, Angelou, Obama, Rashford and Akala classes who opened their doors and made the experience so positive for the parents, grandparents and carers. I know that the parents and carers left reassured that their child was in safe hands and that the school was what they hoped and wanted it to be, a purposeful learning community.

We welcomed Jacqui McShannon, LBHF Director of Children's Services, into Cambridge this morning for a tour. She was hugely impressed with the learning and behaviour of the students and left the site with a huge smile on her face. The purpose of the visit was to look at the fabric of the site and discuss ways we can improve the physical environment here to match the standard of the learning environment.

We are looking for parent governors to join our governing body and we are keen to recruit passionate, committed parents who want to help make Cambridge a better place for all. Please look out for a Parentmail communication next week with further details of the application process. If you are interested, please feel free to reach out to me at school for further information.

Yours sincerely,

Alan Campbell,
Head Teacher
